PREFACE

"Who is She Directory" is an initiative by the National Association of Women Organisations in Uganda, NAWOU, to document and highlight the professional, political, social and cultural status and experiences of women in Uganda.

Study of the Directory reveals that there are today hundreds of women in Uganda who have acquired high level academic and professional qualifications plus practical and technical skills and experiences in various fields of study.

Women have over the past decade ventured into science and technology areas which have been dominated by men. Many of the women in the Directory hold higher degrees and diplomas obtained from Universities and colleges in Uganda and from abroad. This points to the potential for women to take up responsible positions in both the public and private sector of the national development programmes.

The imbalances which exist between men and women holding high and middle level positions in decision making organisations in the country is one of the issues of concern in the emancipation struggle. This Directory is expected to facilitate and enhance the process leading to proper identification of women who qualify for nominations, appointments and election to such positions.

The directory also documents the achievements of women and their contributions to the development of this country through participation in various social, political and cultural activities.

NAWOU is an umbrella NGO whose mission is to improve the status and living conditions of women in society through a coordinated network of women organisations in the country.

We hope you will find this edition of 'Who is She Directory' an effective and efficient weapon with which to fight and further the emancipation struggle.

Hon. Geraldine. N. Bitamazire (Mrs),
President, NAWOU.
